

East Georgia State College

Library Study Room Policy

Approved by Library Committee 12/6/2019

Adopted by President's Cabinet 12/13/19

The East Georgia State College Library has four small study rooms, one small classroom, and one large classroom that can be checked out for use. Study rooms must be checked out from the front desk and are on a first come, first served basis. The study rooms are checked out for a two-hour period and can be renewed if there is no wait.

The rooms are strictly for use by EGSC students, faculty, and staff use for work and study, but may not be used for sleeping or other inappropriate activities. These rooms are a shared resource and should be respected and left in good order.

Each room has a maximum capacity listed by the door. The maximum capacity should not be exceeded.

The Library Conduct Policy and EGSC Official Student Code of Conduct applies.
