Revisions Adopted by president’s Cabinet 9/22/14

East Georgia State College prohibits sexual discrimination, sexual harassment and sexual misconduct and responds promptly to all complaints received on the above offenses. This policy applies to conduct on and off campus. The policy extends to all members of the College’s student body, faculty and staff, visitors, and all participants in the College’s programs, and the policy also applies whether the perpetrator is a member of the College’s student body, faculty, staff, a visitor, or a provider of services to the College.

Sex discrimination. violates federal and state laws, Board of Regents’ policies, and East Georgia State College policies, which provide that it shall be an unlawful discriminatory practice for an employer to fail or refuse to hire, or discharge, or otherwise discriminate against any person with respect to any matter directly or indirectly related to employment or academic standing because of the individual’s sex. Sexual harassment and sexual violence are forms of unlawful sex discrimination.

Sexual harassment is unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, including sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- Submission to such conduct is made explicitly or inexplicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment or academic standing; or
- Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as a basis for an employment or academic decision affecting such individual; or
- Such conduct unreasonably interferes with an individual’s work or academic performance, or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or academic environment.

Sexual misconduct includes sexual harassment, sexual assault, sexual violence, relationship violence and stalking. Sexual violence is a physical sexual act taken against a person’s will, or when a person is incapable of consenting (such as due to alcohol or drug use, when a person is asleep or unconscious, and/or due to intellectual disability, etc.). Sexual violence includes rape, sexual assault, sexual battery, and sexual coercion. Relationship violence includes dating violence and domestic violence.

Victims of sexual misconduct are directed to the “Information and Procedures for Victims of Sexual Assault, Stalking, Domestic Violence and Dating Violence” for immediate response procedures following an incident, reporting options, confidentiality, on and off campus victim services, and disciplinary proceedings and procedural notices. No Retaliation Statement: The ability of individuals to oppose discriminatory practices, and to participate in investigations and proceedings is critical to ensuring equal educational opportunity in accordance with federal civil rights laws. Discriminatory practices are often raised and remedied when students, parents, teachers, coaches, employees and others can report such practices to institution administrators without fear of retaliation. Individuals should be commended for raising concerns about compliance with federal civil rights laws, not punished for doing so. Retaliation includes intimidating, threatening, coercing or in any way discriminating against the individual because of the individual’s complaint or participation in an investigation or proceeding concerning a potential civil rights violation. Retaliation is a violation of federal civil rights law.

East Georgia State College prohibits retaliation against any person who has reported or filed a good faith complaint of sexual discrimination, sexual harassment, or sexual misconduct or who has participated in an investigation of a complaint alleging violation of this policy. Retaliation violates federal and state laws, Board of Regents’ policies, and East Georgia State College policies, subjecting the offender to disciplinary action up to and including termination. Friends, colleagues, team members and others under the jurisdiction of the College that retaliate against the complainant or against individuals participating in an investigation or proceeding concerning an alleged civil rights violation could be subject to disciplinary action as provided under the policies and procedures of the college.

East Georgia State College will conduct a prompt, thorough, and confidential investigation of all complaints of sexual discrimination, sexual harassment and sexual misconduct. Any act of sexual discrimination, sexual harassment, or sexual misconduct will subject the offender to sanctions up to and including dismissal after compliance with any applicable due process requirements.

In order that the College can take corrective measures to end harassment, persons who feel that they have been subjected to sexual discrimination, sexual harassment, and sexual misconduct should file a complaint with the Title IX Coordinator (or with any member of the College’s administrative staff, such as a vice president, dean, supervisor, or director). Persons who may have knowledge of the same must, unless protected by confidentiality statute, file a complaint with the Title IX Coordinator (or with any member of the College’s administrative staff, such as a vice president, dean, supervisor, or director). Any faculty or staff member with knowledge of sexual discrimination, sexual harassment or sexual misconduct or who has received a report covered under this policy must immediately report the same to the Title IX Coordinator.

The following person has been designated as the Title IX Coordinator to handle inquiries regarding the nondiscrimination policies and to serve as the overall campus coordinator for purposes of Title IX compliance: Tracy Woods, Director of Human Resources, East Georgia State College, 131 College Circle, Swainsboro, Georgia 30401; telephone 478-289-2035; email twoods@ega.edu.

In the event the alleged perpetrator is the Title IX Coordinator, complaints should be made to the Deputy Title IX Coordinator. Likewise, if the alleged perpetrator is the Deputy Title IX Coordinator, complaints of harassment should be made to the Title IX Coordinator.

If anyone is unable or unwilling to file a sexual discrimination, sexual harassment or sexual misconduct complaint during normal business hours, he or she can file the complaint with campus Public Safety at 478-455-0125 (Swainsboro) or 912-623-2462 (Statesboro). The complaint filing, investigation, and resolution procedures with an estimated timeline for all phases are set forth in the College’s Discrimination and Harassment Policy.
