

Dear EGSC students,

I walked across campus in Swainsboro this morning. It is beautiful and ready for your arrival! I thought many of you would be interested in seeing what has stayed the same and what has changed since spring. Here are a few photos I took as I walked.

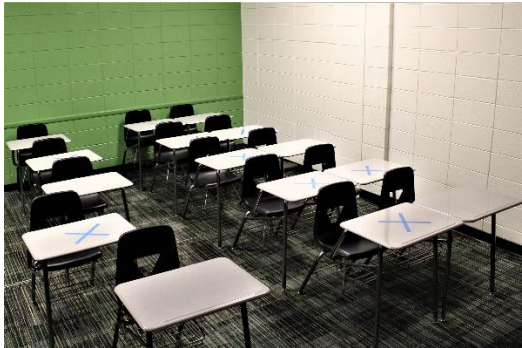

Campus is as beautiful and welcoming as ever!

Bobcat Villas are just across the pond and are once again filled with students.

The new addition to the JAM is complete.

Seating in classrooms is carefully spaced for safety,

Plexiglass shields have been installed at many key locations to make it possible for all of us to work together and stay healthy during this pandemic.

Seating has been arranged to allow us all to enjoy campus while still staying safe.

The maximum capacity of spaces is clearly posted so that social distancing will remain possible while we engage in our favorite activities.

We will all need to remember to use hand sanitizer frequently and not to crowd benches and other seating areas.

When lines are necessary, we will all be reminded to stay at least 6 feet apart.

We are all fortunate to share this beautiful campus. Although the pandemic will require us to adopt many new habits to stay safe, we will get through this together because of our culture of respect for one another.

Please stay healthy and safe.
